

Sailing from Maritime into Multimodal Year

25 Jan 2018

Poll results

Table of contents

- What is the most important achievement of maritime year 2017?
- Where should we focus new maritime investment in the next MFF?
- What will be key opportunities for maritime in 2050?
- What should we focus on for year of multimodality 2018?

What is the most important achievement of maritime year 2017?

084

a.) Modernisation of the EU regulatory framework for maritime transport b.) Participatory engagement and cooperation with stakeholders c.) Targeted investments on innovative shipping solutions d.) Increasing the sector's competitiveness and attractiveness

e.) Other

Where should we focus new maritime investment in the next MFF?

a.) Greening of shipping b.) Investment in ports and maritime infrastructure c.) Improved ports / hinterland connections d.) Digital & innovative solutions for maritime operations

e.) Other

What will be key opportunities for maritime in 2050?

a.) Fully paperless, harmonized, integrated, electronic reporting allowing data collection and sharing on a global scale b.) Autonomous shipping and automated logistics operations c.) New skills for attractive and sustainable maritime professions d.) Deployment of advanced green tech and sustainable maritime solutions

e.) Other

What should we focus on for year of multimodality 2018?

a.) Multimodal, integrated and interoperable data for all transport modes b.) Modal performance

c.) Multimodal infrastructure (e.g. transshipment centres, etc.)

d.) Internalisation of external costs

e.) Other

